

Legal Notice

KANDOR GRAPHICS, S.L. (hereinafter "KANDOR") is responsible for this website and provides the users with this document in compliance with the obligations set out in the Information Society and E-Commerce Services Act 34/2002. The users expressly agree that the use of this website is done under their exclusive responsibility and also undertake not to harm the image, reputation and any of KANDOR's rights or those of any entity in its group by using this website.

The use of this webpage and of the subdomains and/or directories (hereinafter jointly referred to as the "Site") is subject both to these General Conditions of Use and its own specific conditions (hereinafter the "Specific Conditions") which, as applicable, may govern the access to the Site. Furthermore, the use of the Site is also subject to all of the notices, user regulations and instructions which, informed by KANDOR to the User, substitute, complete and/or modify these General Conditions of Use. Merely by using the Site or any of the sites included in the webpage, the User states its acceptance without reservation of these General Conditions of Use.

KANDOR reserves the right to make changes to the Site without prior notice, in order to update, correct, modify, add or eliminate the contents of the Site or of its design. Equally, the conditions and terms which are contained in this Legal Notice may vary, and as a result we invite you to revise these terms when you come back to the Site.

The owners of this website shall not be responsible for the possible damage caused by access or the impossibility to access this website or due to the trust placed by the user on the information published in the site.

Condition of user

The use of the Site attributes the condition of User of the Site (hereinafter the "User") and implies the full acceptance without reservation of each and every one of the regulations included both in this Legal Notice and in the Privacy Policy.

Responsibilities of the User

The User undertakes to use the Site in accordance with the terms stated in this Legal Notice, and are responsible for their correct use. Without prejudice to that stated below, the User is bound to refrain from using the Site for the provision of services, performing advertising activities or for commercial exploitation.

Use of the Site

In particular, the User undertakes to refrain from:

- i. Reproducing, copying, distributing, making available or in any other way publicly communicating, transforming or modifying the Contents.
- ii. Deleting, manipulating or in any way altering the “copyright” and other details identifying KANDOR’s rights or of their owners. The User is bound to refrain from using the Site for the performance of activities which are against the law, moral, public order, against third party rights or in any other way harm, put out of use, overload, deteriorate or hinder the normal use of the Site.

Intellectual and industrial property rights

This website, including by way of example but without limitation its content, programming, editing, compilation and other elements necessary in order for it to function, the designs, logotypes, texts and/or graphics are owned and/or are used lawfully under licence of KANDOR and is protected by the international and/or national intellectual and industrial property rights. The use and/or access to the Site does not imply the assignment of any intellectual or industrial property rights over it or any of its constituent parts, expressly prohibited from modifying, communicating, publishing, distributing, marketing or using it in any other way for purposes other than personal use without commercial purposes, without the prior written communication from the site’s users and from the titleholders of said intellectual or industrial property rights. The users undertake to respect this website’s ownership rights and its intellectual and industrial property rights, whether owned by KANDOR or third parties. The registered trademarks, the service brands, the commercial images and the products which appear on this website are protected in Spain and internationally. Their use is prohibited without the prior written authorisation from the site’s owners, unless it is in order to identify the company’s products and services. KANDOR declares its respect for third party intellectual and industrial property rights; for such purpose, if you consider that this site may be infringing your rights, we ask you to please contact KANDOR at the address including at the end of this legal notice.

Links or hyperlinks

This website may contain links or references to other sites, but the owners of this website do not have any responsibility for the content of the third party websites and shall not be liable for possible damages caused by said content. The links to other sites are solely aimed towards facilitating the users’ browsing of this website, and if applicable, shall not imply any type of agreement, contract, sponsorship or recommendation by KANDOR of the page to which the link refers unless it derives from a possible contractual relationship between the parties. KANDOR can at any time remove or withdraw the links to external websites without prior notice and without having to give any reason or justification for such decision.

Responsibilities of KANDOR

1. Incorrect use of the Site: KANDOR has created this Site to inform about our activity and to facilitate access to its products and services, but can not control its use in a different manner to that set out in this Legal Notice; as such, the access to the Site and the correct use of the information contained on it are the responsibility of the person performing these actions, and KANDOR is not responsible for the incorrect, illegal or negligent use which may be made of it by the User, or for the knowledge that unauthorised third parties may have of the type, conditions, characteristics and circumstances of use that the Users make of the Site. KANDOR is not responsible either for any type of harm which may be due to the replacement of the identity of a third party performed by a User in any type of communication made through the Site.

2. Use of the contents: KANDOR shows all of the contents of its Site in good faith and shall make every effort in order to ensure that they are always up to date and in force; however, KANDOR cannot assume any liability for the use or access made by third parties outside of the intended scope of the Site, the final responsibility for which shall correspond to the User.

3. Virus: KANDOR undertakes to apply all measures necessary in order to guarantee to the User the absence of virus, worms, Trojans and other similar elements on its Site. However, these measures are not infallible and as such it cannot entirely ensure the absence of said harmful elements. As a result, KANDOR shall not be liable for the damage which they may cause to the User.

4. Technological faults: KANDOR has carried out all acts necessary in order for the continuity of its Site and shall make every effort so that it does not suffer interruptions, but it cannot guarantee the absence of technological faults, nor the permanent availability of the Site, and as a result does not accept any liability for the damages which may be incurred due to the lack of availability and for the faults in the access caused by the disconnections, breakdowns, overloads or network faults which are not attributable to KANDOR.

Applicable Law and Jurisdiction

In order to resolve any dispute or issue relating to this website or the activities performed therein, the Spanish legislation shall be applied and with the competent Spanish Courts and Tribunals being competent to settle any conflicts which may derive from its use.

Duration and termination

The provision of the Site's service and of the other services offered therein have, in principle, an indefinite duration. KANDOR can however terminate or suspend the provision of the Site's services and/or of any of the services at any time. KANDOR also reserves the right to unilaterally modify at any time and without prior notice the presentation and conditions of the Site.
